FOREWORD

We, the seniors of '41, go out into the world to win our battles, "the battles of life," with the hope of preserving our pleasant chain of memories—our friendships formed—and the records of our school year.

In this book we have tried to bind those memories together in a tangible and lasting form.

As the years roll on, may we all more faithfully appreciate the work done by our parents, friends, and teachers, who so kindly helped us to our higher achievements.

If this book can help us keep our gaze clear and calm with assurance of and confidence in ourselves, our nation, and our God, it will more than justify its publication.

DON M. SMITH, Editor-in-Chief

ARNOLA HESS, Associate Editor

DEDICATION

BETTY E. GREENE

We wish to acknowledge at this time, our gratitude, respect, and appreciation to Miss Betty E. Greene, who has never failed in the publication of this annual, "Leaves of Lafayette," for her kind, and helpful aid in our class work. To her, we, the senior class of '41, wish to dedicate this as a token of our thanks.

LAFAYETTE CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

The seniors of '41 pay their respect to dear old Lafayette Central for the many memories and the wonderful education that it has given them. We hope that the school will accept the honor of which she is entirely worthy and continue to be the fine educational center of this community.

Edwin E. Prible, who has been principal of our school for three years, teaches Latin and History.

Mr. Prible was coach at Union Center for three years, coached at Lancaster for three years and taught two years at Liberty Center.

EDWIN E. PRIBLE

Whether he knows it or not, it seems as though his lucky number is three. We hope we can add another year so as to have him for our principal next year, even though we seniors won't be here.

Mr. Prible received his A.B. degree from Manchester College and his M.S. degree from Indiana University. He also attended Colorado University in 1936. He spent six weeks of his vacation last summer on a trip in the west.

OUR TRUSTEE

Frank L. Carpenter, trustee of Lafayette Township, is now serving the third year of his first term.

Mr. Carpenter was born in Ossian, Wells County. He graduated from commercial college there, and taught commercial subjects for three years. For six years, he was employed as assistant ticket agent in the Chicago Union Station, which served five leading railroads.

Mr. Carpenter has shown very much interest in school affairs and enjoyed going to the games and cheering with the fans.

Mr. Carpenter spent his summer farming and taking a fishing trip in Minnesota.

JOURNALISM STUDENTS PUBLISH PAPER

In the month of September, seventeen bright looking juniors and seniors met with Miss Betty Greene, the commerce teacher, for the first time with high hopes of producing a school paper, "The Transcript." It was proved that they could produce a paper semi-monthly, and it was very much liked by everyone who had the opportunity of reading it.

Mary Ellen Keller was chosen editor-in-chief, with Arnola Hess as assistant editor for the first term and Phyllis Genth and Luella Jacobs were chosen editors for the second term. The sport editors of the Transcript were Frank Maitlen, Oswald Marcher, Ronald Van Hoozen and Richard Crull. The feature editors were composed of Pauline Facks, Lucy Edgar and Paul Reddin, who saw that the paper had plenty of snappy phrases and clauses. The humor editors, qualified for their job by their humorous dispositions, were Imogene Martin, Arnola Hess, Mary Dennis and Frank Maitlen.

Don Smith was chosen business manager, while Frank Maitlen was chosen advertising manager with Oswald Marcher and Richard Crull as assistants. Typists were Doris Ploughe, Mary Jacobs, Elizabeth Williams and Betty Branstrator, who saw that typewritten material was ready for the press in the nick of time. Leona Mae Johnson and Dorothy Schoenemann were operators of the mimeoscope.

If this particular group of individuals work as hard in life as they have for Miss Greene's department, we are sure that they will find the future secure.

BAND CONTRIBUTES MUCH TO SCHOOL

The band was introduced into the activities of Lafayette Central twelve years ago and has progressed all along the line. Last year there were twelve members and this year there are twenty-three.

Several appearances have been made by the band at basketball games and other social gatherings.

The band is under the instruction of Miss Margaret Meyer. Ora Ogden comes out to school from Fort Wayne each Wednesday morning and gives private lessons to those who want them.

Red capes and caps have been purchased for the band, an addition which has made a big improvement.

The band meets for one-half hour each Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The new members are all from the grades.

BATON TWIRLERS INCREASE SCHOOL SPIRIT

It seemed as though every time anyone would go through the gym he could see baton twirlers standing around rolling the stick for all they were worth, hoping to be professionals some day. We could hear some stamping of feet and a thud on the floor when some of the twirlers dropped their batons and it seemed to them as though their fingers were all thumbs.

They were such avid fans that they spent their noons and any spare time they could find to practice twirling and seemed to draw the attention of other high school students, who watched them with envy.

The baton twirlers made their first appearance with the band at the spring musicale, in the school auditorium. They performed group routine twirling and marched in conjunction with the band. Their outstanding feature was flag twirling.

Their uniforms were one-piece satin dresses with circular skirts. They wore white boots, and carried white flags to match their uniforms for the flag twirling routine.

BOYS' QUARTET MAKES HIT

Four senior boys comprise our quartet. They are Richard Crull and Paul Reddin singing bass and Ronald Van Hoozen and Frank Maitlen singing tenor.

They made their first appearance at the junior play. They sang next at the farmers' institute and then were on the Christmas program. They also sang at the spring festival.

This is the first year the school has had a quartet and it has been quite successful.

SOME INSIDE DOPE ON THE TEAM

PAUL REDDIN—Paul has the honor of being one of the smallest and fastest members of our team. He has four years of basketball experience to his credit and will be missed very much in years to come. Also, he has the honor of making the highest number of points this year. You probably know that basketball, along with softball, is his leading sport. A sophomore blonde seems to be his favorite girl friend and "Red" his nickname among the boys.

RICHARD CRULL—"Whitie," as he is called around school, will graduate with three years of varsity experience. His speed and ability to handle himself on the floor has helped him to success for the past four years. During four years of basketball, Whitie has only missed four practices which shows us that basketball is his favorite sport. When asked about girls he informs us that he has no certain one, but I think he was looking at a certain junior girl at the time. His favorite drink is root beer and his favorite movie star is Judy Garland.

OSWALD MARCHER—Oswald, or "Ozzie," as everyone knows him, is the big center man of the team; he stands six feet, one inch and weighs about 195 lbs. His height under the bucket gave him many follow-in shots, through which he scored most of his points. Ozzie upon graduation will have two years' varsity experience and two years' reserve playing. Ozzie and girls are just good friends and no certain girl bothers him. Trapping seems to be his sideline in winter, along with basketball and softball in the summer. Coca-Cola is his favorite drink with a few hamburgers to go along with it.

WENDELL NIERMAN—Wendell seems to be the only name for the big handsome boy on the varsity squad this year. His position at guard will be very hard to fill after his graduation this year. It seems that Wendell is the only member of the team who can sing and keep anybody listening to him. When asked about girls, he was speechless because we all know Annabel is the only girl for him. His hobby is eating and his favorite sports are basketball and softball. Wendell has proved to have the best shooting eyes on long range shots of the members of the team which has kept them in the winning.

FRANK MAITLEN—During the last two years, Frank has developed into a good basketball player, although he was out part of last year due to an injury. Because of this injury, this is his first year on the varsity. Frank is one of the best handlers of the team. He doesn't believe in all work and no play. His ability to argue has made him a well-known person around school. His favorite drink is Pepsi-Cola and when inquired upon about the opposite sex, we find he encounters very little trouble. Basketball and softball are his favorite sports and after graduation he aims to continue his schooling.

RONALD VAN HOOZEN—Ronnie, as he is called by his classmates, will graduate this year with one year of varsity experience and two years of reserve playing. Everyone can recognize him by his red hair. When asked about the girls, we find he encounters more trouble with them than he does on the basketball floor. The girls of Roanoke are his choice. Basketball and roller skating are his winter activities. After graduation he is planning to be a very good scientific farmer, the farming occupation having engrossed him during his four years of high school.

WILBERT SEIBOLD—Wilbert has been on the team only one year, but he has proved to be a very able substitute in case he is needed in a ball game. Wilbert says that he doesn't hate the women but they never get him down. He is very easy to recognize by his curly hair and the pleasing expression on his face.

CRULL
FACKS

WAYNE TAYLOR—"Red" Taylor, as the boys all call him because of his wavy red hair, is but a junior this year, yet he has been on the varsity two years. His height will make him a very good player for the varsity next year. His ability to play a good defensive game shows that he should be among the best for next year. The girls are the least of his worries. He doesn't believe in all work and no play in school and has a good time when possible during school hours.

ROSCOE JUSTUS—Roscoe is a junior this year and during the year he has shown possibilities of being a good player for next year. He is six feet tall and is a very good backboard player. A junior girl seems to be his favorite and root beer is his favorite drink. Due to a state ruling he was not able to play ball last year, but he has developed all his experience this year and is looking forward to a great season next year.

WALTER FACKS—Walter is the most improved player of the year. He started out as a reserve player and is now on the varsity. His favorite shot is the follow-up shot by which he scores most of his points. Walt is only a sophomore this year and by his senior year, he should be one of the best basketball players of Lafayette; so we are looking forward to hearing plenty from him in the future. "Keep up the good work, Walter."

COACH EVERETT CASS

INTRODUCING OUR NEW COACH

Everett Cass graduated from Union Center School, Wells County, in 1934. That fall he started his training at Ball State Teachers College where he took active part in freshman football, basketball and baseball. After two and a half years' training at Ball State, he finished his course at Huntington College, where he took active part in basketball and baseball.

In 1938 his career started at Metz where he coached and taught physical education and social studies. We also might add that in his two years at Metz he put out two successful ball clubs.

In the fall of 1940 he came to Lafayette Central to coach and to teach health and social studies.

Mr. Cass's leisure time is spent in playing basketball and golf, or going to a show.

PHYLLIS GEMMER and PHYLLIS CHANEY

CHEER LEADERS DESERVE PRAISE

The "Phyllises" were chosen yell-leaders last season by popular vote of the school. They really make a nice pair being about the same height and size, and they have worked very hard for the past year in leading the cheering section of the Pirates. Phyllis Gemmer is a junior and this was her second year as yell-leader. Phyllis Chaney is a sophomore; this was her first year. We will look forward to seeing them both in action again next fall.

MYRON CORLL

STUDENT MANAGER GETS A HAND, TOO

For the past two years Lafayette Central has had a fine student manager who has helped Coach Cass and the team in many ways. A student manager's job is to take care of all equipment and help the coach with the team as much as possible. Myron Corll, senior, has done one of the finest jobs ever.

Cass says that Myron is one of the best.

RESERVES SHOW GREAT PROMISE

The Pirates' second team squad this year worked very hard to improve their playing ability during the season. Consequently most all the players made a vast improvement. All the members were loyal to their fine coach and all of its players, and also courteous to the opponents and were always willing to cooperate in any way possible for the advancement of the first team in the coming years.

The second team will not lose any members by graduation and will have members from the eighth grade who will be freshmen. They will be able to fill the Pirates' second squad next year and see plenty of action, while this year's squad goes on to advancement. We hope they will make a success on the varsity club.

Although this year's second team only won seven games they have shown some improvement over last year's team, which only bagged six games out of the same number played. But as a whole, the team shows great promise of being very strong in the near future.

SOFTBALL TEAM IS BATTLING

The Lafayette Central softball team had a short and hard-played season. The team won two and lost three games for the season, which was not as good as could have been, due to lack of experience. There were eight seniors, three juniors, and three sophomores on the softball team. Van Hoozen and Reddin did the pitching with Reed catching; neither of the boys had much previous experience. The county games were played in the new ball park in Waynedale, at night, which was also new to most of the boys. The team was dressed in red and black shirts with red caps. The boys tried hard not to suffer defeat, but they had to take it on the chin a few times. Their season's record follows:

MINOR SPORTS FILL ANY EXTRA TIME

Spectators and participants enjoyed a series of intramural basketball games at the Lafayette Central School. Coach Cass selected the coaches for the respective teams from the varsity squad of the school. Taylor, who coached the Eagles, won four games and lost three; Nierman coached the Bulldogs, winning three and losing nine; Maitlen, turning in a good success for the Archers, won nine and lost three; Facks, coaching the Celts, had a poor season, winning two and losing seven; while "Whitie Crull" came through for the Aces with seven victories and four defeats.

Slater and Marcher were the officials for the tourney. Maitlen won the tourney by defeating Crull's team four to one.

The following rules were observed for the tourney: players were disqualified with three fouls and for unnecessary roughness; each player played only on his team; each team was allowed two substitutes; tie games were decided by the captains pitching two free throws; the team having the best record had their pictures in the yearbook as the outstanding intramural team; games were 15 minutes in length.

The girls in the high school do not participate in many sports since there are no facilities or girls' physical education teacher. There is one day set aside each week for them to engage in sports. The two most known sports they participate in are volleyball and ping-pong. When the weather is fit they play softball and catch.

One of the activities around Lafayette to be played at noon is ping-pong. There are three tables that are kept busy every noon. There wasn't much excitement until the last few weeks when tournaments were arranged for the boys and girls.

As the result of the boys' tournament Don Smith outplayed all the other boys and in the final game defeated Noah Guerin by a score of 21-15. There were sixteen boys participating in the tournament and all the matches were closely played.

The Rifle Club organized and elected new officers January 11, 1941. Wendell Nierman was elected safety master and Hollis Gregory, secretary. Members practice shooting every Tuesday night after school. William Day is their instructor and he seemed to be very much interested in teaching them how to shoot and hold the guns.

CUSTODIAN WORKS HARD

Gary Sink has been the janitor for the past two years. He has done much to improve conditions around school. Last year he painted the gym silver; this year he has painted the halls in the high school blue and ivory. He has worked to make conditions around school more pleasant for all students and teachers. We hope very much that he will be able to continue his work.

OUR BUS DRIVERS

The bus drivers for the past school year have been Gail Bowersock, Curtis Coverdale, Harry Klenke, Harvey Smith, Laurel Wygant, Wilbur Krumma and Cleo Smith, who drives the Pleasant Township bus here. Ralph Robinson and Wilbur Krumma finished out the year for Harold Roebuck, who was fatally injured in an accident last December.

THANKS TO MR. MILLER

Maurice Miller has been the sponsor of our class for the last three years and a good one, too. He has seen us through and made arrangements for most all our trips and plays and they ran along smoothly. We owe a great deal of thanks for all that Mr. Miller has done for us in more than one way. He has given us privileges that we never would have received ourselves. In sincere appreciation, we take this opportunity to thank Mr. Miller for his sponsorship of our class for the last three years.

SENIOR ALPHABET

- A—is for All of us Seniors—this year!
Come, wish us good luck—and a lot of good cheer!
- B—stands for Marjorie Baker, that's sure;
And for Branstrator—Betty—so shy and demure;
- C—for all C's, Corll, Comer, Coverdale, and Crull,
If there were many more, sure this verse would be full!
- D—means Develop—work, study, and grow!
A little knowledge we have—but there's worlds more to know!
- E—is for Edgar, petit, cool and keen,
With a musical turn that is really not mean.
- F—is for Pauline—whose last name is Facks,
She is airy and gay, and good cheer never lacks.
- G—is for grateful—as students are we
To instructors so patient, and to worthy trustee.
- H—is for Hess—with dark hair and dark eyes;
To tease her would be fun—but would it be wise?
- I—means initiative, perseverance and grit—
If we haven't these yet, for our race we're not fit.
- J—is for Jacobs—who music adores:
When the right tune is struck, her heart into it pours.
- K—is for Keller—a maid pretty and wise:
She knows much about studies—and love, for her size!
- L—is for learning and literature, science, and art.
Math, history, and ag also play a great part!
- M—is Maitlen, Marcher, Martin, Miller; all M's.
1941's class could not do without them!
- N—stands for Nierman, straight, handsome and tall—
We might say who thinks so, but we dare not at all!
- O—is for order, Heaven's first law we're taught:
Implying alertness of mind and richness of thought.
- P—is for Doris, addressed as Miss Ploughe:
We might speak of her romance—but then that won't do!
- Q—is for question—not only wise men can ask—
Sometimes foolish students set the teachers a task.
- R—is for Redding—and Reddin—and Reed,
We might discuss all, but then there's no need!
- S—is for Don (of course Smith) and Seibold,
Romance has struck both tho' only lightly we're told.
- T—is for Thinking—a task for the brain,
We have thought rather lightly to save us all pain.
- U—is for Understanding and these rhymes have none;
As you see, very plainly, they were written in fun.
- V—is for Van Hoozen—of the '41 class
Who prides himself he's the idol of every dear lass!
- W—is for Williams, who is lively and small;
Who does wish that a certain young gallant would call!
- X—is the value which we all must find;
'Tis a problem involving heart, spirit and mind.
- Y—is for you—who are not seniors yet.
We are twenty plus four whom you must not forget!
- Z—is for Zeal to take us on to the height,
That life gives to the ones who live nobly and right!
- &—We go valiantly to our tasks—great or small,
And we leave most sincere and kind wishes to all!

AND FIFTEEN YEARS LATER WE SEE THEM

While waiting on the postman to bring the check for my last novel, I found myself glancing over the books in my library. A small book there seemed to hold my attention, so I took it from the shelf and sat in a comfortable chair near by. Now I understand why I was so attracted to this particular book; it is the 1941 edition of the "Leaves of Lafayette." It seems like old times again to look at the pictures of the twenty-four classmates with whom I spent my last year in high school. Fifteen years have passed since I last saw them all together.

Marion Comer, who even in his high school days was always informed on the latest news, now reports the news to the public red-hot off the press wires in the newsrooms. He seems to be a popular commentator throughout the United States. Just the other evening I heard him announce that Myron Corll, who holds the National Academy Award for his excellent performance in the best show of the year, "Life of Edwin E. Prible," was visiting in his home town, Zanesville. While there he persuaded Elizabeth Williams to elope with him to Palm Springs, Florida. The first minister they found there was Reverend Wendell Nierman of the First United Brethren Church in Tallahassee. Of course it was a great pleasure to have an old schoolmate marry them in that beautiful place. Elizabeth has had some time to give the life of a bachelor-ette a trial, but I didn't think she could live up to it all her life as she always said she would. It does seem rather odd that she would accept second place, for this is Myron's second marriage. My, how these movie actors do step around!

It seems as if Arnola Hess is the one whom I've seen most often. She is a saleslady for cosmetics and I have chanced to meet her in many of the cities I have visited. She has been in touch with most of the former students and has had exciting news almost every time we meet.

Recently she told me that while flying to Chicago to sell some new shade of lipstick she saw Pauline Facks. Pauline is a stewardess on the TWA, and she told Arnola of a flight she made to Washington, D. C. On this trip she had the privilege of being hostess to Oswald Marcher, the famous politician, who is Lieutenant-Governor of Indiana and is running for senator in Congress. On the same plane chanced to be Imogene Martin, a talkative radio comedian, who argued so much with Oswald that at the end of the trip he was a Republican instead of a Democrat. Imogene was going to entertain the president, and Oswald was going to have a conference with the national chairman of his party.

Betty Branstrator and Wilbert Seibold finally decided to quit beating around the mulberry bush and said, "I do." Betty is working as stenographer to Richard Miller, a great lawyer. Wilbert has a bad heart and the famous Doctor Ronald Van Hoozen, of Hunchback, Missouri, is giving him treatments trying to bring him back to par. While sitting around in his idle moments, Wilbert is trying to develop a skill in carving trinkets. Arnola said she always knew Wilbert would develop a useful skill some time. She also thinks that Ronald looks very handsome in his spotless white coat and his long fingers look very bewitching when he holds the instruments. He really did a noble deed when he performed that miracle operation on the president.

The "boys back home in Zanesville" have lost one more of their number. The detective, who got the clue to Public Enemy No. 1, Harvey Reed, has gone to Washington to take up an important post in the Secret Service, leaving behind Paul Reddin, the coach of dear old L. C. H. S., and Richard Crull, the ideal farmer. Harvey is planning on taking his beautiful wife—whom he selected from some lassies in Arcola—to Hawaii soon; they will take a tour around the world for their belated honeymoon. Paul's basketball team has made very good showing in their last two years by winning the county championship. He has also written many poems as a hobby that have been printed in several newspapers. Richard's corn is the envy of all his neighbors; furthermore, his 500 acres are being used as an experimental farm for agriculture.

I read in last evening's paper where five more L. C. H. S. pals will be thrown together again. Jacob Edgar and his "Swingaroos" with their lovely vocalist, Marjorie Baker, have been invited by Don Smith, caterer of the Hotel Ritz Plaza of New York City, to stay there while they are filling an engagement with the governor of that state. Of course their special song writer, Frank Maitlen, is going along. Possibly he will bloom out with another of his famous song hits about New York. Oh, yes, I almost forgot that the former Hilda Redding is hostess in that hotel.

Mrs. Foss Folk, Jr. (Mary Ellen Keller) has led a peaceful married life until recently when she and her cousin, Donald Coverdale, inherited the old Coverdale estate. It appeared that Donald was not satisfied with the interpretation of the provisions of the will. To prevent a squabble in court they went to their former classmate, Attorney-General Richard Miller. Richard has not only won lawsuits, but he has won a love case. After much competition from a distant relative he finally received the beautiful hand of the one for whom he had longed—Mary Jacobs. This marriage broke up a good vocal trio, for the Jacobs Trio had been giving radio programs and had sung at many large gatherings. Mary now feels it is her duty to keep the home-fires burning, although her talent will not be hidden.

Well, that seems to be all of us '41ers placed in our respective positions in the world. Ah, I hear the postman coming now. I hope he has a nice big check so that more writing materials may be procured and a new novel commenced—let's see, it'll be "The Cottage at the End of the Rainbow"—author, Doris Ploughe.

THE JUNIORS ARE MARCHING ON

The junior class began in the fall of 1938 with 33 bright and shining faces in their classroom staring intelligently at one of Lafayette's illustrious teachers.

This year they annexed Joan Lewis and Delbert Palmer, making a class of 33, but Betty Leiter was forced to withdraw because of illness. Later Clara Ruth Prior and William Herman left the premises to attend school at Berne and Pennsylvania.

Miss Betty Greene was their class sponsor this year. Phyllis Genth was elected president; Irene Robison, vice president; Phyllis Gemmer, secretary; Leona Mae Johnson, treasurer; and Annabel King, news reporter.

The senior-junior Hallowe'en party, held in the school gymnasium October 17, was a grand success. Skeletons grinned at the merrymakers from the stage, and a cross-eyed moon beamed grotesquely from one corner of the gymnasium. During a semi-blackout, the seniors gave Mr. Prible a white elephant in the form of a spoon filled with glass.

The junior play, "Mama's Baby Boy," was ably coached by Mrs. Tonkel. Phyllis Genth and John Coverdale, as Mrs. Anna McLean and Luther Long, played the leads, with Irene Robison and Eugene Greek, as Julie Long and Shephard McLean, handling the sub-leads. Other members of the cast were Phyllis Gemmer as Minnie, the colored maid; Jeanette Smuts as Mrs. Matilda Blackburn, Mrs. McLean's mother; Annabel King, Harriet Manes, and Arnold Welbaum as Cynthia Anglin, Sylvia Kline, and Wilbur Warren, friends of Julie and Shephard; Hollis Gregory as Max Moore, a real estate agent; and Luella Jacobs as Mrs. Carlotta Anglin. The play was given before a full house November 14 and 16, in the school auditorium.

They decided to sell stationery as a means of increasing class funds. Each member received a sample kit with which to display the type of stationery and monogram styles.

The juniors sponsored the tournament between the high school classes which was held Friday, March 7. The seniors defeated the sophomores, the teachers overwhelmed the bus drivers and the freshmen overpowered the junior high team.

The juniors annually entertain the seniors with a reception. This year's semi-formal junior-senior reception took place on April 26 in a Fort Wayne hotel, after which every one attended a motion picture.

Honor students for the year were Luella Jacobs, Phyllis Genth, Leona Mae Johnson and Jeanette Smuts.

The juniors are anticipating a full and busy year as seniors; they intend to maintain all the traditions about seniors and still leave Lafayette in condition for future students.

SOPHISTICATED SOPHOMORES ARE ADVANCING

Sophomores! That's what they are after one year of waiting. Last year they were "freshies."

In their freshman year at Lafayette, their leaders were Eldon Welbaum, president; Richard Mills, vice president, and Ned Slater, secretary-treasurer. Their sponsor was William H. Day, agriculture teacher.

Their leaders this year are Robert Freiburger, president; Velma Sorg, vice president; Ned Slater, secretary, and Walter Facks, treasurer. Mrs. Floy Caley Tonkel is their sponsor.

There were thirty-four who started out as "freshies" and thirty of these thirty-four enrolled in the sophomore class this year to start on their upward climb again.

The ones that withdrew were Dorothy Hobbs, Bob Ehrman, Bernard Sparks and Jack Fox.

Those who entered to fill their vacancies were Norma Baker, from Elmhurst; Harold Feighner, from Huntington High School, and Kenneth Platt, from Union Center.

The sophomore class held their annual class party on October 11 at the schoolhouse. The class officers appointed committees for food, entertainment and decorations, which were as follows: Food—Gene Smuts, Phyllis Carpenter, Bertha Hess, John Tomlinson and Richard Mills.

Entertainment—Phyllis Chaney, Bernice Adams, James Ambriole, Paul Young and Eldon Welbaum.

Decorations—Robert Branstrator, Jewell Bowman, Ned Slater, Robert Freiburger, Marybeth Sink, Velma Sorg and Phyllis Roebuck.

Honor students for the year were Marjorie Dennis, Robert Freiburger, Gene Smuts, Ned Slater, Marybeth Sink and Velma Sorg.

We sincerely hope all these sophomores will finish their high school training at Lafayette Central High School.

THE COLTS THAT ARE UNTAMED

'Neath a tall, slender tree nestled 36 bright green leaves; as they fell to the ground Garry Sink swept them into a pile and carried them into the furnace room to be burned. The effect of the heat was unbelievable; the leaves became the freshman class of '41. As the leafless tree brushed its brows there stood the freshman sponsor—tall, dark, handsome William H. Day. They giggled and snickered as they followed their sponsor into a room where organization began. Patricia Manes was chosen president to pilot them through the year, while Wilma Jean Palmer, the little dark-haired girl from Pleasant Township, was selected to assist her. Jack Hamman was elected the secretary and the freshman basketball whiz, Robert Crawl, was chosen treasurer to care for the class riches.

The freshman class was fortunate to have lost only one member, but Charles Weaver's seat was vacant only one day when Leon Lynch from Central High School entered to keep the record of 36 members. For 20 of these new freshies, we give tribute to Lafayette Township, for nine, we cheer Pleasant Township, and for seven, we rise to Aboite. Those from Pleasant Township are Alice Christman, Richard Dafforn, Paul Durnell, Edgar Freiburger, Ruth Harber, James Justus, Myron Miller, and Wilma Jean Palmer. Those from Aboite Township are Helen Dove, Donald Ellis, Florence Lyons, Dale Mills, William Richardson, Mildred Van Hoozen and Eugene Hile.

The activities of the freshman class are somewhat limited this year. But it is sincerely hoped that everyone will return next year to finish their high school career.

SEVENTH GRADERS NEVER LACK PEP AND ORIGINALITY

Thirty pupils entered the seventh grade at Lafayette Central at the beginning of the 1940-41 term of school. The system was somewhat different from what they were accustomed to as the periods were arranged to correspond with the senior high school, except that the time allowed was only half as long as high school periods. Also the pupils were under the direction not of Mr. Kohr but three or four teachers, a situation which was new to them.

The subjects which the pupils study are history, health, and geography, taught by Mr. Cass; home economics and music by Miss Meyer; and mathematics, English, literature, and spelling by Mr. Kohr. The recreation period or noon hour is arranged so that the boys, together with the eighth grade boys, use the gym on certain days each week and the girls on other days.

Ping-pong and indoor "hockey" were enjoyed also during winter months, while in autumn and spring baseball is played.

Lura Duhamell and Robert Johnson won first and second prizes on entries in the farmers' institute.

FIFTH AND SIXTH GRADERS HAVE VARIED INTERESTS

A glance through a window of the fifth and sixth grade classroom at the beginning of the term would have disclosed 33 industrious students just settling down to a long struggle with history, arithmetic, geography, reading, spelling, health, English, and music. A closer scrutiny of the class book would have shown the amateur Sherlock that the fifth grade boasted 19 members and the sixth, 17.

During the year Richard and Wayne Weaver and Wendell Laisure moved to Roanoke and left the home-fires to burn without their assistance.

A clever Thanksgiving play, a tale of the early Plymouth colony, John Smith, and Pocahontas, was presented before the entire school. On Hallowe'en the class planned a semi-surprise party on their teacher, John Darnell; he knew that they were going to surprise him, but the arrangements were left to their ingenuity.

Several specimens of the students' penmanship were displayed at the farmers' institute, for which, in the fifth grade, Emily Mills won first prize, Richard Hurley, the second. Glen Roebuck captured top honor in the sixth grade, with Barbara Smuts following.

As an experiment, Mr. Darnell began teaching the fifth and sixth grade boys the fundamentals of basketball; they seemed very much interested and made splendid progress. They have access to the gymnasium at noon every other Thursday; during the other Thursday noons, the girls play volleyball. Otherwise they spend their leisure time at ping-pong or some game devised by their own initiative.

First Row: Bobby Koughn, Rosemary Smuts, Ralph Platt, Helen Branstrator, Ellen Branstrator, Lyle Lynch, Mary Lou Dalman, Palmer Ruby, Marjorie Genth
Second Row: Arthur Mowery, Garry Lee Sink, Beverly Beaver, Harold Henline, Betty Seibold, David Manes, Doris Roebuck, Dorothy Roebuck, Billy Butler, Miss Sasser

THIRD AND FOURTH GRADES KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK

We found the third and fourth graders very much engrossed in getting an education. They worked away at studying health, geography, spelling, English, reading, writing and arithmetic. Twice a week they met in the gymnasium to learn, the best they could, the fundamentals of music. This music was led by Miss Margaret Meyer.

On Monday, February 17, the third and fourth graders sang on the Safety Swap Shop, a radio program over WGL.

The enrollment includes 35 pupils—11 in the fourth grade and 24 in the third grade. During the year one pupil moved away, and three entered.

For writing, which was entered in the exhibition of the farmers' institute, Rosemary Smuts won first prize in the third grade and Dorothy Roebuck won first prize in the fourth grade.

Many times during the year, we saw many young mothers cuddling their little doll-babies, in order that they might not freeze their little plastic noses. With the help of Miss Sasser, they devised many enjoyable ways to spend their leisure time.

First Row: Walter Denny, Bonnie Butler, Billy Kaughn, Sharon Smuts, Melba Rider, Walter Kern, June Wilson

Second Row: Larry Dalman, Bette Kahlenbeck, Donald Hurley, Gene Beaver, Tommy Sparks, Freddie Keller, Philip Cunningham, Mrs. Welling

ICE BREAKERS SHOW ADVANCEMENT

From the gayly decorated first and second grade room comes the report of the way in which their year was spent. At the beginning of the year, 11 enrolled in the first grade and 23 entered the second grade. Five have departed from them and they have regained one.

To get their brain started to moving along the line of education, they study reading, writing, numbers, and spelling. Art is correlated with the reading, which is about home life.

In the first and second grades, respectively, Sharon Smuts and Delores Adams won first prizes and Larry Dalman and Genevieve Duhamell won second prizes for their art work exhibited at the farmers' institute. Under the direction of Miss Margaret Meyer, the first and second grades sang a group of songs for the farmers' institute. The songs they sang were: "Will You Come Jump with Me?" "Oh, Christmas Tree, Oh, Christmas Tree!" and "Little Jack Horner."

If you were to drop in on them during their recess or noon hour, you would see several groups of children scattered here and there, each group occupying themselves according to their own wishes.

The first and second grades are taught by Mrs. Lela V. Welling.
